Limits of Confidentiality

Contents of all therapy sessions are considered to be confidential. Both verbal and written records about a client cannot be shared with another party without the written consent of the client or the client's legal guardian. Noted exceptions are as follows:

Duty to Warn and Protect

When a client discloses intentions or a plan to harm another person, the mental health professional is required to warn the intended victim and report this information to legal authorities. In cases in which the client discloses or implies a plan for suicide, the mental health professional is required to notify legal authorities and make reasonable attempts to notify the family of the client.

Abuse of Children and Vulnerable Adults

If a client states or suggests that he or she is abusing a child (or vulnerable adult), has recently abused a child (or vulnerable adult), or a child (or a vulnerable adult) is in danger of abuse, then the mental health professional is required to report this information to the appropriate social service and/or legal authorities.

Prenatal Exposure to Controlled Substances

Mental Healthcare professionals are required to report admitted prenatal exposure to controlled substances that are potentially harmful.

Minor/Guardianship

Parents or legal guardians of non-emancipated minor clients have the right to access the client's records

Insurance providers (when applicable)

Insurance companies and other third-party payers are given information that they request regarding services to clients. Information that may be requested includes, but is not limited to: types of service, dates/times of service, diagnosis, treatment plan, description of impairment, progress of therapy, case notes, and summaries.

I agree to the above limits of confidentiality and understand their meanings and ramifications.

CENLA Professional Counseling, LLC. NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION.

Cenla Professional Counseling, LLC. ("CPC") provides counseling services. Cenla Professional Counseling staff must collect information about you to provide these services. CPC knows that information we collect about you and your health is private. CPC is required to protect this information by Federal and State law. We call this information "protected health information" (PHI). This Notice of Privacy Practices tells you how CPC may use or disclose information about you. Not all situations will be described. We are required to give you a notice of our privacy practices for the information we collect and keep about you. This Notice of Privacy Practices describes how we may use and disclose your PHI in accordance with applicable law, including HIPAA Privacy and Security Rules and our Code of Ethics. CPC is required to follow the terms of the notice currently in effect. However, CPC may change its privacy practices and make that change effective for all PHI maintained by the Department. The effective date of this Notice of Privacy Practices is April 14, 2003.

CPC May Use and Disclose Information without Your Authorization

For Treatment. CPC may use or disclose information to health care providers who are involved in your health care. For example, information may be shared to create and carry out a plan for your treatment.

For Payment. CPC may use or disclose information to get payment or to pay for the healthcare services you receive. For example, CPC may provide PHI to bill your health plan for services provided to you.

For Health Care Operations. CPC may use or disclose information in order to manage its programs and activities. For example, CPC may use PHI to review the quality of services you receive.

Appointments and Other Health Information. CPC may send you reminders for medical services, checkups, and eligibility renewal. CPC may send you information about health services that may be of interest to you.

For Public Health Activities. CPC is the public health agency that keeps and updates vital records such as births, deaths, and the tracking of some health issues and diseases.

For Health Oversight Activities. CPC may use or disclose information to inspect or investigate health care providers.

As Required by Law and for Law Enforcement. CPC will use and disclose information when required or permitted by Federal or State law or by a court order. If Federal or State law creates higher standards of privacy; CPC will follow the higher standard.

For Abuse Reports and Investigations. CPC is required by law to receive and investigate reports of abuse, neglect or exploitation.

For Government Programs. CPC may use and disclose information for public benefits under other government programs. For example, CPC may disclose information for the determination of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits.

To Avoid Harm. CPC may disclose PHI to law enforcement agencies in order to avoid a serious threat to the health, welfare and safety of a person or the public.

For Research. CPC uses information for studies and to develop reports.

Disclosures to Family, Friends, and Others. CPC may disclose information to your family or other persons who are involved in your medical care. You have the right to object to the sharing of this information.

Other Uses and Disclosures Require Your Written Authorization. For other situations, CPC will ask for your written authorization before using or disclosing information. You may cancel this authorization at any time in writing. CPC cannot take back any uses or disclosures already made with your authorization.

Other Laws Protect Your Protected Health Information. Many CPC programs have other laws for the use and disclosure of information about you. For example, your written authorization may be needed for CPC to use or disclose your mental health or chemical dependency treatment records.

Your Privacy Rights

Right to See and Get Copies of Your Records. In most cases, you have the right to look at or get copies of your records. You must make the request in writing. You may be charged a fee for the cost of copying your records.

Right to Request to Correct, Amend, or Update Your Records. You may ask CPC to change or add missing information to your records if you think there is a mistake. You must make the request in writing, and provide a reason for your request.

Right to Get a List of Disclosures. You have the right to ask CPC for a list of disclosures made after April 14, 2003. You must make the request in writing. This list will not include the times that information was disclosed for treatment, payment, or health care operations. The list will not include information provided directly to you or your family or information that was sent with your authorization.

Right to Request Limits on Uses or Disclosures of Protected Health Information. You have the right to ask CPC to limit how your information is used or disclosed. You must make the request in writing and tell CPC what information you want to limit and to whom you want the limits to apply. CPC is not required to agree to the limit. You can request in writing that the limit be terminated.

Right to Revoke Permission. If you are asked to sign an authorization to use or disclose information, you can cancel that authorization at any time. You must make the request in writing. This will not affect information that has already been shared.

Right to Choose How We Communicate with You. You have the right to ask that CPC share information with you in a certain way or in a certain place. For example, you can ask CPC to send information to your work address instead of your home address. You must make this request in writing. You do not have to explain the reason for your request.

Right to File a Complaint. You have the right to file a complaint with CPC at the address listed below and with the Secretary of the United States Department of Health and Human Services if you do not agree about how CPC has used or disclosed information about you.

Right to Get a Paper Copy of this Notice. You have the right to ask for a paper copy of this notice at any time.

Right to Receive Notice of Change to CPC Privacy Practices. You have a right to receive notice of changes in CPC privacy practices that affect you on or after the effective date of the change.

How to Review CPC Privacy Policies. You may review CPC privacy policies in our office located at 4207 Parliament Drive, Suite B, Alexandria, LA 71303.

How to Contact CPC to Review, Correct, or Limit Your Protected Health Information (PHI)

You may contact the CPC office which collects and maintains your protected health information or you may contact the CPC Privacy Officer at the address listed at the end of this notice to:

- Ask to look at or copy your records;
- Ask to limit how information about you is used or disclosed;
- Ask to cancel your authorization;
- Ask to correct or change your records; or
- Ask for a list of the times CPC disclosed information about you.

Your request to look at, copy, or change your records may be denied. If CPC denies your request, you will receive a letter that tells you why your request is being denied and how you can ask for a review of the denial. You will also receive information about how to file a complaint with CPC or with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office for Civil Rights.

How to File a Complaint or Report a Problem

If you believe we have violated your privacy rights, you have the right to file a complaint in writing with our Office at 4207 Parliament Drive, Suite B, Alexandria, LA 71303 or with the Secretary of Health and Human Services at 200 Independence Avenue, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20201 or by calling (202)-619-0257. We will not retaliate against you for filing a complaint.

PATIENT HIPAA CONSENT FORM

Please Review Carefully

I understand that I have certain rights to privacy regarding my protected health information. These rights are given to me under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA). I understand that by signing this consent I authorize you to use and disclose my protected health information to carry out:

- Treatment (including direct or indirect treatment by other healthcare providers involved in my treatment);
- Obtaining payment from third party payers (e.g. my insurance company);
- The day-to-day healthcare operations of your practice.

I have also been informed of and given the right to review and secure a copy of your Notice of Privacy Practices, which contains a more complete description of the uses and disclosures of my protected health information and my rights under HIPAA. I understand that you reserve the right to change the terms of this notice from time to time and that I may contact you at any time to obtain the most current copy of this notice.

I understand that I have the right to request restrictions of how my protected health information is used and disclosed to carry out treatment, payment and health care operations, but that you are not required to agree to these requested restrictions. However, if you do agree, you are then bound to comply with this restriction.

I understand that I may revoke this consent, in writing, at any time. However, any use or disclosure that occurred prior to the date I revoke this consent is not affected.
